Michael Hayward

Mr. Hayward has worked as a supply teacher at this school at regular intervals during the academic year 2000-2001. He covered for the long-term absence of the Head of Mathematics and taught classes up to GCSE level.

Mr. Hayward rapidly established excellent relationships with both pupils and staff and under difficult circumstances pupils' learning was effectively maintained.

He establishes very effective working relationships with those with whom he comes into contact and has a wide range of classroom strategies which ensure effective classroom management.

Mr. Hayward is an excellent supply teacher and is consequently recommended without reservation.

Re: Mike Hayward

Mike Hayward has undertaken a Supply Teaching role within this Department on a number of occasions during the last two school years. Some of his visits have been of short duration whilst others have been over several weeks to cover for long term sick leave etc.

We are entirely satisfied with the service he has given, which has encompassed both Key Stages 3 and 4. He has followed set work very carefully and has also improvised expertly on occasions when this has proved necessary. He is eclectic in his choice of contexts to facilitate understanding of concepts.

Mike's personal qualities of cheerful, unflappable steadiness make him an ideal substitute teacher. He draws extensively on his vast and varied experience as an actor to provide interest and inspiration. We would be happy to consider him for a permanent position were that to be his wish.

I have no hesitation in commending him to you as a reliable and suitable teacher.

RE: MR. MIKE HAYWARD

I have known Mr. Hayward since 1983 as a teacher of mathematics. He has taught classes to GCSE level in the 11 - 18 age range. His lessons are always well planned and the work suited to the ability of the students.

Mr. Hayward is quick in establishing good working relationships with both pupils and staff.

In each of the schools in which I have employed him Mr. Hayward has always worked to the ethos of the school.

I have no hesitation in recommending Mr. Hayward as an experienced teacher with his other talents.
